THOSE TAKEN BY HAND OF DEATH

Mrs. Pritchard Dies suddenly at Home of her Brother, Judge Swope. Young Hoover Girl Found Dead in Bed.

MRS. T. C. PRITCHARD

Mrs. Lydia Jane Pritchard, widow of the late Dr. T. C. Pritchard, of Gettysburg, Pa., died suddenly early Saturday evening at the home of her brother, Judge H. McC. Swope on Baltimore street where she had been visiting since last Tuesday.

Mrs. Pritchard was in apparently good health and on Saturday evening had been with Judge Swope and family. Upon their return home she took her scrap on entering and Mrs Swope found her some time later lying dead on the floor.

Mrs. Pritchard was 56 years old. She was a native of Gettysburg, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Swope, deceased. She taught school here for several years after marrying Rev. Dr. T. C. Pritchard, a Lutheran clergyman who died about a year ago. His was prominent in church circles, pastor of the Lutheran church at Philippsburg, a member of the Board of Trustees of the local Theological Seminary and president of the East Pennsylvania Synod. Mrs Pritchard leaves one son, William S. Pritchard, of Washington, Delaware, and two brothers, John S. McC Swope, of Gettysburg, and James A. Swope, of Chicago, Iowa.

Brief funeral services were held at seven o'clock Monday evening at the home of Judge Swope. The body will be taken to Philadelphia Tuesday.

MISS NELLIE REEVER

Miss Nellie Reever, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Reever, of Hanover, was found dead in bed Sunday morning. Miss Reever was 20 years of age.

Dr. H. K. Aldman was summoned, who found she had died from heart failure, and that she had been dead three hrs before found.

Saturday evening she seemed in her usual health and spent the evening at Kitchlinger Park with friends, dancing.

She was employed at the Hanover shoe factory for seven years. For the nine years age with her parents she moved from Littlestown to Hanover.

Funeral on Wednesday afternoon. Services at the home at 2 o'clock. Interment in Mt. Olivet, near Hanover.

HELEN CATHARINE ZEIGLER

Helen Catharine Ziegler, daughter of Rev. N. and Jessie M. Ziegler, died at home, third Three months about five o'clock, aged 4 years, 4 months and 11 days.

Funeral services at the home Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. J. H. Baker, officiating. Interment in Evergreen cemetery.

DIPLOMATS AT MOUNTAIN

Foreign diplomats are escaping the heat of the national capital in the most unique manner by making their summer residence in the Blue Ridge Mountains.

Dr. Romulo S. Naon, Minister from the Argentine Republic is at Round Top, and at the Blue Mountain House are Secretary Senor F. Perez Seibold, from Costa Rica, and his family.

Additions to the army array as reinforcements in the mountains are Paymaster General T. J. Cowin, Capt. J. Brooke and Sergeant R. B. Lauderdale of the navy, who are hotel guests at Round Top, and Lieut. H. Dorsey, U. S. A., who is at the Blue Mountain House for the summer.

BROTHER DIED SOON

The State Highway Commission has ordered the survey of the road between Gettysburg and Lancaster via New Oxford and York. This indication that it will be the first road to be taken over under the Sproul Bill. The Gettysburg and Harrisburg survey was ordered last week.

THANK YOU

Dr. D. Pitzer, of route 3, Biglerville, presented this office with some of this year's Early Harvest apples in perfect condition and also with some excellent apples of this season's crop.

MORE BAD PEACH NEWS

Further reports from the heart of the Peach Mountain fruit belt concerning the outlook for the peach crop this season are far from gratifying. Fourth growers since the Pennsylvania line are more pessimistic than those of other localities, and believe that they will not have more than a fractional part of a normal crop.

U. W. Hershman, one of the extensive and successful fruit growers whose orchards are at the foot of the mountain before the Blue Ridge House, says he will only have one third of a normal crop and that the neighbors will not fare say better. Mr. Hershman made his same statement concerning the shortage that D. F. Cahill, president of the Tuscarora Fruit Growers' Association, gave as the reason for failing of in the size of the crop in his section. The principal cause, Mr. Hershman said, are to be found in the severe frosts in the early spring very well, while the old orchards will not yield much more.

Aaron Nauwmaer, another large fruit grower of the Fairfield region, has one old orchard that was frozen in the winter of 1903-1904. This year it will bear a large crop.

CHILD DROWNS NEAR HIS HOME

Young Son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel D. Pressel, of Near East Berlin, Falls Into Mill Race and Drowns.

Later Find Lifeless Body.

Escaping the vigilance of his mother, Lloyd, aged 3 years, son of Samuel D. Pressel, fell into a spring race at the mill of Jacob Bair, about a mile from East Berlin, and was drowned. Funeral services were conducted on Monday.

The children were engaged in cleaning the spring house on Monday and the mother, Mrs. Pressel, supposed that the little boy had gone to the house and was playing near the mill. Shortly after the mother became aware of the child's fatal plunge, but by the time she reached the mill to find the little one bodyless in the water.

The child's mother is a daughter of Emanuel Bair, of the Bair neighborhood and the family moved from that place to the Pressel farm. The little one's life was so formerly a member of the then of Jacob Bair, and the family were living on term formerly in Hanover for several years. The funeral was held Monday and dry is now located on the property.

Interment was made in Mt. Olivet at 2.30 a. m. at the home. Services at New Baltimore Lutheran church and in the cemetery. Rev. S. A. Dinkle, officiating.

BAD LUCK

The Reuse furniture factory and Gettysburg High School base ball team have had their innings on Nixon Field Tuesday evening the score standing 7 to 6 in favor of the factory. The High School claimed an agreement had been made with the game that six innings were to be played if the umpire thought the light permitted for play. Rigor Hamilton who was umpire at the game, called seven innings "play ball" but the furniture factory team left the field after the seventh inning ended. The two teams had each scored the same price on Tuesday night. Three umpires were used at the bowling game which is now played by both sides.

MAD DOG SCARE ALARMS CITIZENS

Dog Chased all over Town by Excited Citizens Finally Killed. Got into Several Houses. Chased out with Pitchforks.

The mad dog scare took hold of a number of Gettysburg residents Tuesday evening and resulted in the pursuit and final death of a small white canine which had been acting in a peculiar manner. The dog invaded about the streets of town for about a quarter of an hour before it was killed by Ben Carbaugh who hit it over the head with a stick.

The animal belonged to Mrs. Clabaugh, of York street. It came to the rear of her home on East York street, after between the Stock and Gilliland stores. At the rear of the College Church it jumped over the fence and bit a pig belonging to Harvey Bell-augh. From there it went on to Washington street, to High, to the home of Mrs. Peter Sheads. The dog ran through the house and into the yard, going from there into Theodore Wible's house.

Passers by got after the dog with pitchforks and clubs and finally Wible was finally driven out into the open again, jumping a fence into the alley on Mr. Wible's lot at 11 o'clock in the morning.

While the affair lasted residents, especially the older people, were in a state of excitement. Many thought that they would be assaulted in the event of a rush and dog attack.

COUNTY PICNIC AT MOUNT HOLLY

Committee Decides to Change Place of Holding Big Annual Outing. Next Wednesday will See Hundreds at the Resort.

The big annual Adams County picnic announced several weeks ago for Hershey Park, will be held on next Wednesday, July 26 and not August 2nd as first announced, the change in date having been made by the committee in charge.

The change was deemed advisable on account of rumors regarding the gaiety of the weaer at Hershey Park. Several weeks ago and through every issue of the News, the picnic was announced to be danger to the Adams Countians it was thought best, owing to the rumor which had become rather widespread, to make a change and select Holly was accordingly chosen.

Hershey Park has been distributed Hershey Park tickets to its agents and it is thought that the change and the picnic will accordingly be held at Mount Holly which will undoubtedly be a favorite among the people of this section. Mount Holly is prettier this year than ever before. The various attractions at the place are all in fine shape and will be in full swing on the many hundreds who are sure to attend.

The picnic this year is being conducted by a joint committee from Biglerville and Bendersville and will be open to the people of all parts of the county as well as from Gettysburg and the Adams County Fruit Belt.

COL. BUSHMAN IN LOS ANGELES

From the Los Angeles, Cal. Examiner:

Youngest member of the hospital corps of the Army of the Potomac at the battle of Gettysburg, Col. Frank Bushong, Samuel W. Bushman, who with his wife and daughter are at the Angeles Hotel, from Gettysburg yesterday left for a tour of the high officers of the Masonic order.

"At the outbreak of the Civil War I was a student at Gettysburg College in the first call. On account of his weak eyesight I was refused. But I fought out of the substitution of troops on the battlefield of Gettysburg. I was there and despite his youth, was given a place in the hospital corps. I fought through the entire action at Gettysburg and emerged without a wound.

"His visit to Los Angeles is for the purpose of meeting many of the people of seeing some of his Masonic friends. He is a member of the Grand Chapter of the organization, and for his splendid work was presented with a gold watch by the grand chapter was valued at nearly $1000."

BOSY DAYS IN LOCAL COURTS

George Shaeffer Arrested on Charge of Larceny from Western Maryland Station. Third Ward Colored Folks in Fight.

Local officers of the law were busy Sunday and Monday and as a result George Shaeffer was arrested on a charge of larceny, Robert Lee Winston on a charge of assault and battery while train riders have again come into prominence though swelling arrest.

Shaeffer was arrested by Constable Wilson on Sunday evening charged with the larceny of hose from the Western Maryland station platform. Monday he confessed to Officer Wilson that he took the hose and was arrested blankets from the stables of Hollinsworth and Dielman.

Winston's case was discharged. His arrest was the outgrowth of a disturbance among Third Ward colored folks in which two admirers of Ella Jones were involved. It developed at the hearing that Winston and Jones' basketball appeared at the girl's home and engaged in a lively quarrel over the Jones girl. A fist fight and a hatchet were produced to evidence before Squire Myers and in the case also ensued. District Attorney Neely advanced the theory that the trouble arising both parties equally guilty.

Two trains were held up last week from West Virginia to Baltimore have evidently learned the fact that a week there if they get within the Gettysburg borough limits and accordingly go flying the town a with berth in their transit.

Sunday evening Officer Chester H. Wilson received word that a gang of the undesirables was on a train bound for Gettysburg a short time afterward and he went to the station to meet it with the train's arrival. When it did pull in not one of the crowd was to be seen on board, all having jumped off some distance out of town.

It presumed that they made a wide detour hoping to catch another train for other traits east of Gettysburg, than to continue their journey.

The large number of train riders which Sheriff Flood has had in his care for the past few weeks have all completed their time and been released. They have evidently left a favorable report among their fraternity that Gettysburg is a good place to spend on their travels and it is hardly probable that the town will be burdened with them for some time to come.

L. T. L. MEETING

On Friday evening the Alumni Association of the Susquyita Loyal Temperance Legion held a very enjoyable meeting at the home of Mrs. Z. J. Peters, Stevens street. One of the chief things in the meeting was the report of the recent State Loyal Temperance Legion convention at Cherbondola, given by Miss Ella Black, who attended it. A very pleasing program was rendered, consisting of vocal and instrumental solos and some recitations. After the meeting the remainder of the evening was spent in playing games.

Those present were, Mr. and Mrs. Z. J. Peters, Misses Ella Black, Mildred Garretson, Alice Black, Susie Black, Anna Mcclellan, Mrs. Robert Reber, Robert Wilson Peters, Mrs. Clyde B. Gitner, Misses Crosline, Ruth Cook, Annie Sheetz, Mabry Wolfersa, Irene Wolf, Cora Wolf, Mary Wolf, Gertie Tyson, Eleanor Peters, Trude Stoughgh, Messrs Ivan Peters, Melvin Cook, Charles Wolf, Dudley Thompson, Raymond Wolf and Clyde Gitner.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Mae Wolfersa on the second Friday night in August. It is hoped that all alumni members will be present, together with their friends.

J. C. Murphy and Dr. J. U. Miller, of South Park, Indiana, were battlefield visitors Friday. They motored here, accompanied by automobile from Atlantic City where they attended the convention. They registered at the Hotel Gettysburg. The party was composed of Mr. and Mrs. A. Wilson Norris, Misses Sara and Lucile McSpadden, of Redwood, "They came through Frederick to the officers of the State Defense Board and reported that they are studying the tunnel nut he habits with a view to recommending a system of preventing its appearance in such numerous numbers next year. The latest estimate made is that wheat crop will be cut down 25 per cent as a result per cent of the normal, the shortage being due to the ravages of the insect which made its appearance early "in the spring.

It is probable that circulars giving advice on ways to prevent a recurrence of the pest will be issued by the State pest program according to state officials who have been making investigations as to how the stubble is the fields is to be plowed under and how they can thoroughly plough and roll the ground.

Most agricultural experts agree that the wheat for next year should not be planted until after September 15.

BUTTERN'S PHONES.

The Related Queen Anne and the Distinguished Colonial Styles.

Many stories are told of Sotheran's limited methods of entertaining his friends at dinner, and possibly the most amusing is that of the Related Queen. When, late in the dinner, this queen was announced Mr. Sotheran exclaimed, "Let me hide under the table, for I cannot face my wife's friends." Being told that the announcement stood. When the lady queen entered Mr. Sotheran was observed under the table, crumbling courtesy, saying, "When you are in Rome you must do as Romans do," some inaccountable reason, all his friends laughed. This was the climax of discomfort one by one they crept from their hiding to the table.

On one occasion Mr. Sotheran gave an elaborate dinner in honor of his friends in the theatrical profession in the Distinguished Colonial style. One of the guests, ten in number, were garbed in the costume of Queen Anne. He was a most, pompous waiter, clothed with great dignity, and he had charge of all his dinner table, already served. Ten minutes before the dinner hour were placed with mathematical precision upon the table, and when he left the room to bring the wine. Mr. Sotheran, who had been watching from the door, said: "Pilger, the bread! Quick, Pilger, the bread!" Pilger, who had heard intended lightly upon this train of thought, replied: "Yes, sir, I will be very important when I get the bread!" as all such jokes had been carefully rehearsed beforehand.

Upon the waiter's return all was silent. Mr. Sotheran, who had noticed that Sotiern's face showed only that dignified calm which is befitting for a waiter, bewildered, the waiter, seeing that the bread was not in the basket intended to be dust, then retreated his steps to the table, examined it carefully and hurriedly left the room. He returned shortly with a dish of hot bread, and again at each place a piece was carefully placed, and he retired with the empty plate. "Quick, Tiger! Quick, Tiger! The butter!"

And once more each place was carefully supplied with butter, water was poured, and all were silent again. One by one all the guests left the table, and there remained no doubt. Then Mr. Sotheran, who had been seen to lift a look of concern not be announced to the waiter, who had evidently forgotten all the table he brought a third dish of bread, and, as each place a piece of bread, and as each place a piece of bread, and as each place a piece of bread, and

ALDRICH DENIES LORIMER STORY

Denies on Stand President Aided Illinois Man.

WANTED GOOD REPUBLICAN

Former Senator Declares He Told Hinze Lorimer's Candidacy Was "Not Objectionable" to President.

Washington, July 31.—Former Senator Nelson W. Aldrich, of Rhode Island, told the senate lorimer committee of the part he and President Taft took in the election of lorimer from Illinois in 1909.

Instead of telling Edward Hines, of Chicago, the storm center in the present Lorimer investigation, that he and the president were anxious to have Lorimer elected, Mr. Aldrich declared that he told Lorimer's candidacy was "not objectionable."

When attorneys for Lorimer, on cross-examination, asked if he knew the former senator might have expressed to Hines the opinion positively it would not be well to elect Lorimer, and that he meant that word and could not name the added that he knew Hines would use the information given him at Springfield.

Mr. Aldrich also denied he had told Hines that he considered Lorimer the only man who could be elected. He declared that he did say and Senator Paterson to bring Hines to consult with him in regard to the Illinois election, and added that he did not believe Senator Paterson brought Hines to his room.

According to Aldrich, all the conversations he had with Hines in regard to the senatorial situation were regarding the president's attitude toward candidates. But Hughes, then Hooded, and finally Lorimer. The answer to the question that he told Hines that a senator elected because of executive influence would be a weak senator.

Hines had testified that Aldrich sent for him about May 31st, to talk over about the possibility of the Illinois legislature electing a senator. Hines evasively, after repeated conferences, Aldrich had asked him if he could get over to become a senatorial candidate, and that after a short conference at the White House, Mr. Aldrich had returned to his home, where Hines was waiting, and told Hines to inform Governor Deneen that the administration was anxious to have the senate vacancy filled, and believed Lorimer could be elected.

Mr. Aldrich said he had three or four conversations with Hines about the Illinois election, but could see no call on those activities to be concerned.

"Mr. Hines," continued Mr. Aldrich, "said at the first conversation that he his judgment Hopkins could not be elected, and he asked me what the attitude of the president was. I said the president was anxious that the election of a Republican, and, while unacquainted with the details of the business of the primary result, and personal matters, he thought it to be the duty of every Republican to do his best to take any active part in trying to influence the election of Hopkins or any other candidate."

Mr. Aldrich testified that their next talk on the Illinois situation occurred when Hines came to see him on the statement that there was a movement to elect Lorimer on Democratic ballot, that organization is a corporation, for senator. Hines said he was anxious to know what the president's attitude was toward Lorimer's candidacy. Mr. Hines, according to Mr. Aldrich, said he was desirous that the man elected would be satisfactory to the president.

"Later," continued Mr. Aldrich, "I reported to Mr. Hines that the president would be agreeable to Lorimer's election only anxious to have a Republican elected and that he was satisfied with Boutell's Republicanism."

In next conversation, Mr. Aldrich said, was about May 30. "Mr. Hines then told me," said Mr. Aldrich, "that it was impossible to agree on Boutell and that he was going to see Mr. Lorimer at Lorimer's request. He was anxious to have the attitude of the president toward Mr. Lorimer. I told him I would give him an answer later. Later in the day I told him Mr. Lorimer's candidacy would not be objectionable to the president."

The only one for whom Mr. Aldrich expressed to Hines a preference for senator, he said, was Lowden. Mr. Aldrich said he had any knowledge of Lorimer's attitude on the tariff. He said he considered Lorimer a good Republican.

"What is your idea of a good Republican?" inquired Senator Kenyon.

"One who is a loyal supporter of the president and the administration and who is not inclined to stand against local interests in so doing."

CAPE HAITIEN FALLS INTO REBELS' HANDS

One of Chief Cities of Haiti Being Pillaged.

Cape Haitien, Haiti, July 31.—This city is at the mercy of the revolutionists and is being pillaged.

All the persons opposed to the revolution have been ordered to leave the foreign consulates. The French consul refused to comply with the order and remained under the local authorities.

An American yacht anchored off the port. Refugees from the interior and other foreign women and children are on the yacht awaiting a United States warship. The German consul, as well as the French consul, is living in the royal government representatives such as the Federal Consul.

The enemy occupied the city Thursday. Provisional government was declared for the revolutionists. Since then looting and pillaging have become more grave.

The enemy attacked Fort Libertie as President Simon and his troops left. There was last of the government's batalions established there. Commander Morgan, of the American cruiser Montana, received a message from the armor of Fort au Prince, and commander of the federal troops, friendly, but the other forces of the government offered a feeble resistance.

VETO BILL IS PASSED BY LORDS

Upper House Votes For Government Measure.

NO FIGHT WAS OFFERED

Measure Limiting Power of the Peers Carries Amendments Which Commons Will Reject.

London, July 31. — The house of lords passed the third reading of the veto bill tonight by a vote of 131 to 114, as the vote bill, without division after only three hours' debate.

The result of the insurgent peers failed to materialize. The attempts of the extremist lords to throw out the bill on this count and proclaim a crisis proved a bluff. One solitary peer, Lord Ampthill, entered his voice for demand a veto, but found no support.

Lord Morley, for the government, and Lord Lansdowne, leader of the opposition, repeated some familiar arguments for and against the measure. Lord Halsbury, leader of the extreme tion, threatened a fight if the house commons rejects the amendments.

The passage of the veto measure had predicted with reasonable certainty by the government. The government's majority was increased by the number of amendments on bills. The doors, and the galleries were filled and many of the lords persist there will be no serious gaps in the ranks of the peers to bring certain advice which will insure the passage of the bill.

It would not be in accordance with parliamentary etiquette to protest the nature of the advice but everyone understood that this meant the creation of Liberal peers.

The house of lords will meet on Wednesday or Thursday and Lord Lansdowne will move the consideration of the bill, predicting he repeat the bill's provisions without change. If the extremists rally round Halsbury the bill will be defeated, but if Lord Lansdowne is expected to muster a majority of about 30 votes. It is believed that Premier Asquith will not announce the government's plans for the session until the fate of the bill is known.

The enemy occupied the city Thursday. Provisional government was declared for the revolutionists. Since then looting and pillaging have become more grave.

The enemy attacked Fort Libertie as President Simon and his troops left. There was last of the government's batalions established there. ADMITS FORMING SUGAR TRUST

Parsons Attacks Attitude of Political Parties.

THINKS JAIL PERIL AVERTED

Declares Oil and Tobacco Decisions Make It Impossible to Enforce the Criminal Clause of Sherman Act.

New York, July 31.—John E. Parsons, former counsel for the American Sugar Refining company, told the special congressional committee investigating the sugar trust today the creation of the formation of the sugar company, he said at first that he was willing to share at the time always, he said.

"I am willing to take the blame for organizing the idea of consolidating the sugar interests into the big company in 1887," said Mr. Parsons. And Parsons went further and said that he was one of the first attorneys who ever presenting the Standard Oil, and the tobacco trust decisions of the supreme court.

"I think," he said, "that the idea of bringing these independent companies together in 1887 into the sugar refining company?" "Well, I think it was in all those cases," he said, "and even though, who deserves the credit or the blame for the formation of that company which under reorganization became the present American Sugar Refining company, I cannot believe in the combination of capital, of the right to combine for capital for the benefit of those interested, when it is not unlawful.

"There were twenty-three refineries in the United States at the time when you united seventeen of them," said Mr. Parsons, "and you controlled 65 per cent of the output. Do you think that what others were made to get in the business and control 80 per cent, as you can tell you is now dead. That is the law, I believe."

"How long did the Refineries combination?" asked Senator Lea of Tennessee.

"It's began with a political party which was the Republican party, the River Refinery company," said Mr. Parsons.

"What party?" cried most of the senators in unison. "The Republican party," said Mr. Parsons.

"Well that was about the opening of the war, and the high tariff on sugar, and the high tariff on sugar, and the high tariff on sugar

The Harvest Moon

A Novelization of the Drama of AUGUSTUS THOMAS

By GEORGE HENRY PAYNE

COPYRIGHT, 1909, BY AUGUSTUS THOMAS

This is a realistic story of the great, romantic, throbbing world of the modern stage. Revealing the good as well as the evil of the writ of stage life, it also deals authoritatively with dramatic technique in an interesting way. Through all the story runs the engrossing narrative of the talented young playwright, Willard Holcomb, and of the beautiful young home girl, Dora Patterson, who went and alone into the world to undertake its fortune and fortune on the stage. The recital of her journey, of her struggles and of her awakening forms one of the really brilliant novels of the time.

CHAPTER I

IT WAS a bright day, as it was recited, proud up its principal passengers. A Chicago express every Monday morning is due to get there at 8:30 by the clock or one important business. And it was because the engineer of that train had somebody once said that it was a most remarkable train in America.

It was a mannered, vigorous, athletic looking aggregation of people that filled this train—all, vigorous men who looked as if they had descended, perfectly sure of themselves and their possessions, from a world as automobile or one to a lower or perhaps a livelier, scene of action and yet were perfectly calm in all their knowledge, sure of their foothold in the once air, a worldly intervening built that would support them we are at the enterprise stage when we are returning to the stage of the courage of our pacific ancestors, who in 1776 and upward, with a well, rampant curiosity—peace be to Frederick Bienstadt!

The train pulled out of Southampton at 11:45 and among the passengers twilight, were at this early hour all more or less sad, all more or less dazed for the day's fate. were a young man and woman who found their way with little difficulty and immediately started an animated conversation.

"Oh, you, Dora, you are wonderful! I never thought you'd be ready on your sixty and a half hours' notice," said the young man, a fine looking fellow of 28 ago. Every lineament in his face showed the strength of character and good breeding, and it was clearly evident that he was accustomed to command something—his love.

"Graham"—she put spoke in a lower voice than her companion, her knowledge of other being plainly evident, it is quite possible that you are speaking the truth, but there is one thing I cannot tell." She hesitated. "I am going to do this thing that you want me to most and even I fear. I am going so do it no matter what the outcome is."

The young man sat back in his seat. His face reddened. "You are going to do it no matter what the outcome is? His masculine sense led him to by the inconsequence on the last phrase.

"Dora," the girl said slowly.

It was a blow to the young man. His face reddened. He sat back upright, drew the cave with which he gesticulated, his deference to the wishes of this representative of the sex, helped him to a cigar and lighted a cigarette himself.

He looked into the face of the girl as she sat beside him and was silent a moment. She was a thin, slight creature, a splendid representative of the most intelligent refinement, a woman of superior education and environment, the daughter of Professor Fullerton of the greatest university in America, his own—a woman whose beauty could only be appreciated by those who have both artistic and intellect make and of large, clear gray eyes that look so calmly, saying that she would go through hell or heaven with the engrossing agreement no matter what the outcome might be.

And that outcome?

He had led a fairly decent life. He had his vices, its dates, but had never struck that combination that would be knee something of the underworld, no every young man of his position in New York city did. He even knew some of the women of the stage, but had never had any intimacy with any of them.

He illustrated. And now he was going to marry a girl who was a lady—a woman he was engaged, and he was going to take her to the stage.

Hess was elected secretary and Jesse Bream, Health Officer. The new board placed placards on all the houses where typhoid fever has been found, as a precaution but as a notice to the public that the disease is under control.

All the cases at Mothersbaugh are getting along nicely and improving rapidly.

Dr. Hunt made a thorough examination of conditions at New Oxford and the report of Dr. Hoffman was awaited with interest. New Oxford has had a board of health for some time and the report was favorable, the cause is spread of the disease were taken by the health boards some what overlooked in dealing with cases both in and near the town.

AEROPLANES FOR FAIR

The managers of the York County Agricultural Society have signed a contract for a pair of aeroplane flights during the annual county fair in the first week of September.

As the York County Agricultural Society will have no strong competition this year it is a matter of doubt, the six-lineup of the society's annual exhibition will be as large in number of prizes than it was last year. The amount of the prizes last year was said last year concurrently with the York and previous fairs, amounted to about securing military attractions. Besides the aeroplane attractions announced forth by the management of the Richmond exhibition, the military division of the New Jersey and Pennsylvania militia will be present with York and possibly the Virginia capital. The result was a big success in the line of attractions. Pittsburg Society's enlarged midway; the new amusement section and the one last year's exhibition. Such will not be the case this year, it is stated by the management. The midway this fair will be held a week later than the Pittsburg fair and it is believed there will be no live competition within a radius of 100 miles of York during the week of October 7-8.

ENMITSBURG WANTS LIGHT

Emmitsburg is beginning to plan over the possibilities of getting electricity current from the Gettysburg and the Frederick Railroad and Hagers have Railroad will build at Smeltz Mill, Frederick county. TOWN SCHOOL BOARD LOSES

Cumberland Township School Board Wins Case Brought by Local Board. Will be Carried to Superior Court.

Judge Sadler has handed down an opinion sustaining the Cumberland township school board in its contention with the Gettysburg school board relative to the transfer from the township who attended Gettysburg schools in 1908 and 1909.

Under the Act of Assembly the Gettysburg school board admitted a number of pupils who lived more then a mile and a half from the Gettysburg school house, and was paid by the township for the tuition of these pupils seven months' term. The is the issue of the school year. Cumberland township while in Gettysburg for a two months longer.

The local school board claims the laimes for the extra length in term. The amount involved is only $60 to $70 but the principle if carried out in future years will amount to a good sum as every year pupils from Cumberland township attend the Gettysburg schools.

Attorney F. McPherson, Esq., represents the Gettysburg board in the case and Atty. Edward Bream the township board. They stated the case to the Court who ruled that the board could only pay the pupils the time their own schools are open.

The Gettysburg board says they will carry the case to the Superior Court.

GETTYSBURG 5 YORK SPRINGS 4

Locals Get Revenge on East End Team by Playing Good Article of Ball, Including Three Double Plays. Hartzell Pitched well.

The Gettysburg Y. M. C. A. base ball team went to defeat the York Springs Saturday afternoon defeating the East Enders in a well played and exciting game by the score of 5 to 4.

The game put up by Gettysburg can be judged when it is told that three Goodie plays were executed in fine style and that Hartzell pitched what was or a line drive to Hartzell who quickly relayed the ball to Lawrence Bream, catching a man off the base. The second was Hartzell to Bream to Stock at first; while John Beshore made a double play from center field to Stock at first; and another by Hartzell to Bream to Stock at first. The game put up was far different from the one played here earlier in the week.

Hartzell was effective for Gettysburg allowing only six hits and striking out ten batters. Hartzell and Myers pitched for York Springs and had nine strike outs to Gettysburg's credit.

Gettysburg scored two in the fourth on single by H. Sterry at third. York Springs got out tally in the fifth and added three in the sixth on a single, two hit by Brown single by J. Sterry, and several errors. Gettysburg added two more in the seventh on a single on hits by Rock, Oyler, McAllister and a sacrifice by Hartzell.

The score by innings:

Gettysburg . . . 0 0 0 2 0 0 0 3 0—5
York Springs . . 0 0 0 0 1 0 3 0 0—4

Gettysburg: Beshore, Hartzell and Bream. York Springs, Hartzell, Myers and Howe.

TWO HORSES BURNED WITH BARN

Fire on Wednesday night destroyed the barn on the farm of the estate owned by Moses Keiss, a mile and a half from East Berlin, along the Hanover pike. Large stacks of hay, straw, grain, old farm implements were scattered about the outside of the building and in the meadow the fire originated through spontaneous combustion, according to the good heart of the day. Mr. Keiss was not at the time. The blaze was discovered by a son of Mr. Keiss, about 11 p. m., but had gained such headway that nothing could be saved. Also the building and contents, including two horses, harness, a number of implements, a wagon, a new buggy, and a quantity of hay and grain. The loss is a heavy one to the estate, and is partially covered by insurance.

HANOVER LOSES TO GETTYSBURG

Gettysburg Runs Ball Team Into Hanover on Saturday—Bowling Game is Interesting Contest on Home Field.

That revenge the Gettysburg Y. M. C. A. base ball team was so anxious to get on the Hanover nine came along at last and the locals were beaten Thursday afternoon in a score of 3 to 0.

Interior control for Gettysburg in fine style allowing only three hits and striking out ten opposing batsmen. Lawrence for Hanover was effective and struck out eight, giving only three hits also. Hertzler walked four while Lawrence gave no passes. Errors on both sides were numerous.

Gettysburg opened the scoring in the second when Hertzler got first on a hit. Oyler ran for him and was sacrificed to second by McAllister. Hammon home with Herr and Bliss were throwing the ball away. However only the more in the third when Berry got to first on an error, stole second and third and scored on an error by Oyler.

Hanover scored another in the seventh when Rossler got a base on balls, stole second and scored on Bliss's error. The eighth and ninth were easy ones for Gettysburg. Hertzler got to first on an error by Berry. McDonnel ran for him and stole second, and Hammon's pretty hit along the first base line by Hartzell, who reached first in the last half followed. In the ninth Swisher got to first when Hanover's second baseman and right fielder collided in an attempt to get his fly. Hartzell sacrificed him to second and he scored on Jos Shook's clean hit to right.

Features of the game were the fielding by Shook and Hartzell.

The score by innings:

Hanover	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0—0
Gettysburg	0	1	0	0	0	0	1	1	0—3

STATE DAUGHTERS WILL MEET HERE

State Conference Daughters of the American Revolution will be held in Gettysburg Last Week in October. Choice Just Made.

The state conference of the Daughters of the American Revolution will be held in Gettysburg on October 24, 25 and 26 of this year.

PARIS GREEN PUT IN SPRING

Charles Toms Blamed for Placing Deadly Poison in Spring of Which Daughter Was Sole Enemy, No Serious Results.

Charles Toms, brother of John Toms alias John Lee, who escaped from the Adams County jail some months ago and has never been recaptured, is now in the Frederick jail charged with putting Paris green in the spring of Mrs. Bessie Patterson, of Catoctin furnace, which supplies water for the enemy.

The accused is already under bail for his appearance before the next court, but was unable to secure bail for one belonging to Mrs. Patterson's mother. Revenge for the first crime is alleged to be the motive for placing the poison in the water.

It is said that the Patterson family, consisting of the mother and three small children, was in a state of bodily here at the home of Toms. Mrs. Patterson and the children drank in a small house with her mother, Mrs. Mary Eyster, on the road leading from Hamburg to Fairville. The house is in a remote section of the Catoctin Mountain, about 18 miles from Frederick, widely inhabited by berry pickers. Recently a large portion of that section of the mountain was burned over by a forest fire.

Deputy Sheriff Beaver, who visited the scene, says the water was badly polluted. The elder, which were well filled with water, had been treated with a greenish substance which was also in the mixture of the water.

"It was Paris green," said Mr. Beaver, "and enough had been put in the water to kill anyone using it."

The spring is about 6 feet square and 7 feet deep and is the source of the drinking water for the family.

Some days ago Toms, it is said, was caught in the act of cutting with a knife a new bottom in the spring water. This was reported to Sheriff Grimes and the accused man was arrested and held in bail for the Frederick county grand jury. According to Mrs. Patterson, she has since been afraid to go any distance from the house at times made by Toms. When she went to the spring for water a few days ago she says she noticed that it had been polluted and found dead fish floating in the water. No further investigation she discovered the poison to be Paris green and the case entitled Deputy Sheriff Beaver.
